AI requires human-like intelligence and creativity to make refined and meticulous decisions.

How would you use AI to enhance your work, taking into account the context of your stories and moral implications?

– OR –

With rapidly evolving technology and shifting consumer preferences, the expectations for a bright and exciting new era in broadcast television are high. In what ways do you think those 2 factors will positively impact the industry?

- Share links for two projects you've worked on along with a brief description of what your role was on each of those projects
- Letter of Recommendation: Please arrange to have one letter of recommendation from a faculty member
Please note: The letter should attest to character attributes such as integrity and leadership
- If chosen to participate in a personal interview with Scholarship Committee members, be prepared to give the name of the school you will attend, what semester the funds are needed for and the amount of funds needed for said semester

All guidelines must be met to avoid disqualification.
